

If It Walks Like a Duck... and Other Truths My Mother Taught Me

Forget the nonsense and those who say otherwise. Dating IS a game. Fortunately, everyone gets to win if they make the right decisions along the way. Emotionally unavailable partners mean you no good when you're looking for the love of your life. Who has time for the habitual liars, chronic cheaters, and negative people we all have run into at some point or another? Their primary focus is on themselves, their wants and their needs. It's time to start focusing on #1YOU! Emotional scars can last a lifetime. Don't allow bad relationships with people who don't have your best interest at heart to screw you up for the potentially good relationships with people who genuinely adore the royalty you are. Is it easier said than done? Absolutely. The first steps are learning to become entirely beautiful, inside and out, then learning how to recognize the bad seeds and eliminating them for good. Your transformation starts now.
