

Love Across Time

Maggie awakes in the 21st century in the hospital with no memory, only the name Margaret, and three items: a gown, an odd ring, and an antique brooch. After donning all three items, she is hurled back to 18th century Scotland where a scarred, Highland chieftain, Liam Menzies, claims she is his wife. Liam has nursed his wife day and night after her accident, but when she awakens with no memory of her life or of him, he wonders if he can make her fall in love with him again? Maggie's love for the scared-faced Highland warrior draws her back into his arms night after night. But will their love stretch across time and unite them forever or will it tear them apart.
