

Quakes and Willows: A Romantic Beach Read for the Bifocal Set (Life, Love, and Bifocals) (Volume 3)

What is it like to be sixty-eight and in love? Some will say, forget passion. With luck there might be an occasional kiss on the cheek more likely long detailed discussions about aches and pains. Most assuredly evenings on the porch in wooden rocking chairs, sweet ice tea, and a little soft music on the victrola. Sound right? Not even close! The final volume of the Life, Love, and Bifocals series delivers passion, a romantic triangle, struggles with addiction and guilt, jealousy, a visit from the FBI, and oh yes, more passion. As they cruise toward their seventies, Guen, Liv, Mary Alice, Rich, and Scotty once again prove that images in the mirror are poor predictors of what life has to offer.
